MATTERS IN MISSOURI.

VOLUME XIV.

[Correspondence of the Chicago Tribune.]

Inorrols, Mo., Aug. 7th, 1981.

Our march was a most tedious one of about eighty miles, over a road remarkable for its roughness. In fact during all the experience I have had in traveling through the East or West, this one is decidedly the worst of all. It is attracted between regions of magnetalus. It is situated between ranges of mountains, and is composed almost entirely of pieces of finit rock, and when one steps on them, they are liable to turn and "spill" him. I was unfortunate enough to sprain my hip rather severely on the march, but an ample application of camphor has brought it round all right again.

souri, represent General Lyon as anxious to finish up his bus does with McCulloch, and as speedily as possible. He had thrown out his troops in strategetic positions to invite a battle, and his advance guard enjoyed a skirmish with a party of the realist usual. The loes in this affair, if any, is not stated. General Lyon relies wholly upon the discipline, enthusiasm and efficiency of his corps, and upon the service of his splendid arillery. McCulloch's crowd number some 11,000, but are far more formidable in figures than in the field. They do not stated than in the field. They do not seem disposed, as yet, to gratify the Federal troops with a battle, but Gen. Lyon is not the man to swait the pleasure of an enemy. Where he sees a head he his it; and McCulloch's in the direct line of an impending blow.

GEN. GARIBALDI.

A deepatch to the Cincinnati Gauctic sys that Garibaidi has tendered his services to the United States, and that he has been appointed a Brigadier-General. The statement that he had offered his rare abilizes as a military chief to the Government was made some days since in the columns of the New York Reening Post—excellent subority—but the fact of the acceptance we had not before obsorved. If it shall prove true, the loyal hearts of the country force, the loyal hearts of the country was made some days since in the columns of the New York Reening Post—excellent subority—but the fact of the acceptance we had not before obsorved. of his neighbor's being a Union man, and the ismily will be killed, the houses burnt, and every thing valuable stolen. A number of innocent men, women and children have been murdered within a few miles of our camp during the last five days. And still those blood houses can not be caught and dealt with as they should be.

We have been moving our camp pesterday and te-day from Filot Ruob to Ironton on a most besutiful and healthy location. It has not been named, but I presume it will be called "Camp Fremont," the same as our former one. The good behavior of the soldiers in the 6th in wing an excellent effect upon the citizens. Many of the lamilies were much flightened, and had prepared to leave on the arrival of the army, but now are going to remain, feeling that they are secure. The Hecker Regiment, of Chicago, arrived a) few days since and are encamped about hair smile from us. They are a splendid set of soldiers, and I meet very many with whom I am ac qualated. Among them Ex-Alderman Weedt, who is Quartermaster, Surveyor Von Horn, most of the mubers of the Great Western Band and others. I wish we had the Light Guard Band to discourse their exquisite music

SISPERSYR INDIANA REGIMENY.

The Ninetcenth Indiana Regiment arrived here by railroad last night. It is a newly raised regiment, and numbers 1045 rank and file. The men have had no opportunity for drilling, having only been turnished with arms a few cays before leaving home.

The secession prisoners here are being taken care of in grand style. This morning a party of finely dressed indices attracted general attention in the city market by inquiring for the choicest fruits for the prisoners. Champagne for dinner has also been sent them.

THE APRICAN SLAVE TRADE—The Secretary of the Interior has directed the United States Marshale of the States of Maryland, Delaware, Pennsylvania (Kantera District), New Jersey, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts and Maine, to convone on the 15th instead, at the office of the Marshal of the Southern District of New York. The object of this convocation is to concert measures to prevent the fitting out of slavers and the suppression of the slave trade. trade.

Naw Maxican Voluntarias.—On Saturday last, the company of Capt. Manuel Pino was mustered into the service, and proceeded to Albuquerque to join the ascond regiment of rolunteers. On Monday the company of Capt. Jenus Maria Sena y Baca was also mustered into the service. This company left the city Thursday morning to join the same regiment. of unanimity that some future Milkon will glorify in an Epic, went heartily and courageously into the fight for the perpetuation of that which all parties, save only the aristocracy of Slavery, love. There is nothing in this brief recital to encourage the belief that old parties can be restored and that old issues, now embalmed in history, can serve as the basis of new contests. But, though all this, to men of length, is as plain as any demonstration in mathematics, we find here a politician mayhap a Senator, endeavoring to breast the great particite flood which has broken down the dykes and gates that have kept parties as under. We see them in their little cockle-shell shallops, waving in a dwarfish way, the flags on which are inscribed the shiftboleths of the ald parties, crying out in thin voices that they only know the way of safety, and begging the flood to be still, that they may be heard. The figure they cut is not at all complimentary to the general average of the common sense of the race. Their prototype is the fellow who challenged Nosh for a ride, and, being refused, told him to "go to thunder with your old ark—there is not going to be much of a shower after all." THE INCORE TAX—Some misapprehension exists on the subject of the income tax. The English practice, universally condemned, but persisted in by successive ministers, has been to tax upon the whole income, even if it exceeds the prescribed limit by no more than a shilling. It is supposed by many, who have not examined the law, that the same practice will be adopted here; whereas the law expressly provides that the three per cent. shall be hald only upon the excess "beyond $900," after deducting "all tother taxes." Thus, if a person's net income is $850, and his taxes—State and National—should be $10, his income tax would be $1.20, or three per cent. levied tax would be $1.20, or three per cent. levied upon $40. The language of the law example be piper. None but a robber and a brigand would suggest auth a proceeding, and some but a nation of fools, which the Tankon, in their soler senses, are not, could be made to believe it practicable.

There is a duty which the Government owns to this people, the sterm performance of which public sentiment will demand, and which the letter of President Davis to Lincoln assures us will be fulfilled. Our own observance of the usages of war must be based upon that of the enemy. Their prisoners in our hands must be treated as they treat ours; an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth, a life for a life. For this purpose, prisoners should be so closely guarded as to afford no possible chance of eccept. We have now a good supply on band. Let Mr. Lincoln begin his wors of barbarism wherever it pleases him.

That our readers may only a few secassion lokes, we copy the following from the New Oriecuse and Memphis papers:

It is noted by the reporters that those of the Manassas figitives who could spare the expense, were patronizing the Washington itisers in the south of the second o mistaken.

ameunt from Europe in return. An stiemple to draw from Europe 202,000,000 of gold and silver, or half that amount, would, if successful, overthrow the whole financial system of Europe, and convulse the civilized world to the centre. The attempt, however, could not succeed. It would be a financial impossibility. The proceeds of the crop must come back, therefore, to a great extent, in supplies for the country. New, now is this to be practically done?

The Government must employ agents to sell the crop. It must employ some sort of agencies to turn the proceeds into supplies, to buy the goods and fabrics wanted by the country. This involves the buying by the Government, through speaks, of so many yards of wooflems, and so many lakes of domestics, and so many bolts of calicoes, and mustims, and is wra, laces, thread, slockings, lates, aboes, hose, tope, needles, plus, thimbles, &c., &c., without number; and then agents at home to sell out those goods to our retail merchanis, or the proceeds will stand in banking houses in Europe to the credit of the Government. It is a fund of exchange to draw or, and sell to our importing merchants, to enable them to buy and pay for goods. In either mode it involves the Government in an immense trade in goods, or an immense cotton business. Such are some of the practical difficulties in the way.

There exists greater unanimity of harred against the North, which finds yent in the fiercest invective. They sometimes speak of arming their negroes, but it is generally thought that it would be a dangerous experiment. Our informant was present when Mr. Matthews, a member of the Legislature of Misalasippi, unde an address to the people in reference to the battle at Stone Bridge, where he was a spectator. He said that the Western men were as good markmen as the Southerners, and that they stood fire well. He stated that the tide of battle was turned by a Southern regiment who threw away their rifles, and with a bowle-knife in one hand and and a pistol in the other made a charge on Sherman's battery and captured it, and then turned the guns upon Union men. He rode over the field afterward, and it was one mass of dead and dying Yankees. Mr. Matthews WILLIAMS & HOUGTELLING, COLLECTIONS MADE. How McClellan Takes his Observations.

A correspondent of the New York Tribwins writing from Washington, says:

We may, perhaps, meet a man in a broad straw hat, was without his sale-telling should-cratrape, rising alowly through the camp, looking intently at the men, and noting overy stem of their seconmodations, and overheasing, without seeming to listen, every word of their month or little grambling. Unless he happens to be personally known, few take notice of aim, and the utmost of recognition he receives is from the wide-awake santy, who demands his authority for passing through the lines. Yet if his man were to appear in all the gaudy paraphernalis with which the articles of war entitle him to bedeck himself, the masket of every sentry would be at the "present," and the hand of every man and officer would visit his cap with respectful military sainte-for this unostensitous man is an effect of high rank, on a quiet tour of observance. He may be a Brigadier General, or even a Major General, or it is not impossible that it is the now universally-trusted McClellan himself.
